FCB promotes a National Sales Manager & PR/Events Manager

Fort Collins, Colo. – Fort Collins Brewery (FCB) announces an exciting change to the FCB team. Brand Ambassador, Josh Hall, will continue to support sales distributors and accounts across the FCB footprint as the newly appointed National Sales Manager.

Josh is a proud graduate of the University of Georgia, and made the move across the country from Georgia to Fort Collins shortly after finishing school. Prior to coming on board with FCB he ran a farm located north of Fort Collins, where he began setting up farm pairings with Colorado breweries. It was at this moment when his passion for craft beer became a viable future. Soon after, Josh joined the FCB team, promoting FCB beer and working events around Fort Collins. “I am eager to step fully into my role as National Sales Manager, and to work with our great distribution partners across the US, selling beer and spreading cheer. I look forward to getting a satisfying FCB brew into your hands.” A lover of the outdoors, you’ll often find Josh on his bike, the basketball court, or playing in the woods. Regardless of where you spot him, he’s sure to have a fine beverage in his hand.

In addition to the new line up, Current Event Manager, Elisha Stewart, will now be in charge of communications and public relations, as the PR & Events Manager. Elisha moved to Fort Collins in 1998 while attending Colorado State University. Prior to joining Fort Collins Brewery, Elisha worked for Heska Corporation, a veterinary biotech company, located in Loveland, CO. During her tenure, Elisha excelled in many positions in sales and marketing. "I am thrilled to be a member of the Fort Collins Brewery family." Elisha said. "Whether it's promoting our outstanding craft beer, delicious cuisine from the Modern Tavern, or a charity fund raiser event, joining the FCB Team allows me to interact and play a pivotal role within the Fort Collins community." Elisha joined the FCB team in June as the Events Manager. She will continue to manage and promote FCB events while taking on her new responsibilities. Outside of the office, you can find Elisha camping with her family, biking, running and sampling the culinary creations Fort Collins has to offer.

Both, Josh Hall & Elisha Stewart, are excited for their new expanding roles within FCB.
